Utility Model Branch

The applicant of a patent application filed after January 1, 1987 effective in the Federal Republic of Germany can file a Utility Model Application directed to the same subject matter and simultaneously claim the date of application of the prior patent application (§ 5 Utility Model Law branch). This can be done before the expiration of 2 months after the end of the month in which the outcome of the patent application is settled by way of final rejection, voluntary withdrawal or fictitious withdrawal, conclusion of appeal or failure to respond before expiration of deadline for appeal. Detailed information concerning the requirements of a Utility Model Application, including the branch, may be obtained from the Leaflet for Utility Model Applicants available at no cost through the Patent Office and Patent Reading Rooms.
